Grand Jurors' Journal

President's Message By Keath North

Most of you, by virtue of your involvement with CGJA, are already aware of the comprehensive training CGJA has been able to offer to new jurors. We trained nearly 900 of the state's 1100 or so new jurors in 2010, and are likely to increase that number in this year's sessions. You're probably aware of some of the resources CGJA has made available, like the Les Daye Index that allows one to search past reports, statewide, by subject matter. You may be aware of the fantastic Blog available via our website, or that a recruitment DVD, posters, and an informative new book about the California Grand Jury System, that are now available for purchase. Many of you are aware that this is the first year of a free Introductory Membership program for new grand jurors.

The breaking news, though, is that we have just begun the construction of a brand new, modern, functional website. The process has been a real learning experience for all of us involved. Like growing older, or like serving on a county grand jury for the first time, one doesn't get much practice in this sort of thing. We know the result will be well worth the effort. Our present website was lovingly constructed by volunteers some 17 years ago, and has been well-maintained ever since by our volunteer staff, but the passage of time has rendered it obsolete. Although we are using a professional website development company to build our new site, they are doing it so our volunteer staff will still be able to control all of our content. Look for the launch of this dynamic new website within the next few months.

We envision the website as being a primary information resource for present and past jurors, while a Facebook page will be geared more toward the general public's interest, and contain educational materials about California's grand jury system. We cannot ignore the importance of social media for reaching a wider audience with our important message. The use of social media is so widespread that it's said that some 12% of parents punish their children's misbehavior by grounding them from using social networking sites, while the other 88% punish them by joining their children's networking sites!

WE NEED YOUR HELP. If you are a power-user of Facebook, please contact me as soon as possible.

Overall, our objective is to raise public awareness about county grand jury activities, and encourage participation as jury members and as a better informed citizenry. As the public becomes more aware of the potential of the grand jury system, more people will volunteer to serve and apply their hard-earned knowledge for the common good. A better informed public will lead to a better utilized grand jury system. A better trained grand jury will produce better reports, with better Findings and Recommendations, leading to better local governance. Let's continue our efforts with diligence.

On behalf of the Board, I'd like to express my deep appreciation to Judi Lazenby who has stepped down as a Director. Judi has served CGJA with distinction as President and Treasurer, devoting considerable time and energy to the latter to fill a serious void. Judi will continue to serve on the Training Committee and as a Trainer. Also, welcome to Beate Boultinghouse, President of the San Francisco Chapter who has accepted the appointment to fill the balance of Judi's term as Director. Beate has been very active in the Central Regional Chapter meetings and brings talent and energy to the Board.

CGJA Committee Reports, Chapters Reports and Chapters in the News

Membership Relations Committee

By Dan Mufson, Chair

During December we added 6 more introductory members (IM) (4 from Kern, Napa, and Tehama) due to recruiting efforts. Several more have just joined from Monterey County, whose grand jury serves on a January-December calendar, as they completed their CGJA training sessions.

CGJA is constantly evaluating and adding new grand jury support services. Therefore there are expanding opportunities for you to get involved and bring new approaches to our activities. Contact the committee chairs, or give me a call, and we'll find an interesting activity for you.

It is time for us to seriously consider how to approach our IM, the sitting jurors--especially in those counties with no chapter. Joe Maloney (Sacramento) has agreed to spearhead this effort. We expect to divide the counties into regions with mentors such as: Larry Walker (Kern); Owen Haxton (Marin); Dianne Hoffman (Orange); Marian Mosley (Fresno); and Darrel Petersen (Humboldt).

Several IM have already contacted us and asked what is required to start a chapter. The process is straightforward: at least seven charter members, who must be CGJA voting members, prepare a request to the Board; then prepare chapter bylaws based on the template the MRC provides which links the chapter's purposes to the mission of the CGJA; and finally, register with the IRS under our group code. The mentors will walk you through this process. Please let me know if you have such an interest and we'll schedule a visit.

One of the IMs from Sutter County called to inquire about chapter formation and then suggested it would be efficient to have Sutter-Yuba-Colusa form one chapter due to their proximity to one another. Such chapters are allowed by our policies.

Public Relations Committee

By Jerry Lewi, Chair

President North has saved me the trouble of reporting on several of our committee activities in his message this issue. Keath is heavily involved in the development of our new website for which I am thankful.

So I'd like devote my message to one of my favorite subjects: the Grand Jury Achievement Report. I'm sure most of you are aware of this valuable effort and are probably also equally aware of my frustration that we are not getting enough inputs on a regular basis. The latest report (posted on our website) has 52 examples. There ought to be at least 520 and we need everyone's help to get there.

The CGJA Annual Conference 2011

November 7&8, 2011 in the
Napa Valley
Hosted by the
Napa County
Chapter
Embassy Suites,
Napa, CA

We have been able to arrange for an unbelievable price for your stay at the conference location: $109 per night with a complementary cooked breakfast and a complementary happy hour. Now if our program is as great as we hope, this will really be a memorable event. The conference will officially start on Monday morning and finish at noon on Tuesday. Our conference rate has been extended to several days after the conference, but unfortunately not before.

However, we suggest you consider coming to the Napa Valley prior to the conference to enjoy its world-class ambiance—it's the number one adult tourist destination in America. At least plan to arrive early Sunday to experience the beauty of the valley; some wine tasting and a special meal or two. The hotel check in time is 4PM and we'll have a hospitality booth open then—did we mention the Happy Hour starting at 5:30?

The fall is a particularly great time of the year to visit as the harvest is underway and the air is fragranced with the whiff of fermenting grapes. But, we're not the only ones who want to visit at this time—the hotels really get booked.

The Embassy Suites at Highway 29 and First Street is within walking distance to downtown Napa and the Art Walk as well as the outlet shops. We expect to have activities for spouses.

Diane Dame' Shepp, our chapter vice president, is chairing the conference and Bill Trautman is heading the programming committee. A few of you have sent us suggestions for programming: Joe Maloney (Sacramento) sent the following:

Some of the workshop titles could be, "Don't let your chapter wine down"; "Grape expectations for future grand jurors;" and, of course, "No subpoenas should be served before their time." While these are inspired, I suspect there might be some more clever input you could provide. Send us your wine-grand jury themed suggestions, as there will be a prize for the best.

Signed, "The Most Happy Fella and the whole Napa Chapter"

To work on new methods to increase the input to this report I am going to meet with members of the Excellence in Reporting Committee, chaired by Sarah Simpson later this month to brainstorm ways we can improve the GJAR as well as the EIR activity as well. One issue is the confusion in many peoples' minds about these two efforts which are different, though similar, in that they both look to acknowledge good grand jury reports, defined as reports that truly "make a difference."

If anyone has any ideas about these activities, please contact me or Sarah.

The meeting will be held in Napa on the afternoon of February 17th and if you're in the area and would like to attend, you would be welcome. Please contact me for more details.

I would like to acknowledge our two new members, Burrel Woodring, who is also President of the San Bernardino Grand Jurors Association and Darrel Peterson, a new Director from Humboldt County. We are looking forward to their contributions to the committee's work.

Nominations-Elections Committee (NEC)

By Dan Mufson, Chair

Many of you serve the CGJA on its various committees. There are however, a select few, elected to serve as Directors, who have the responsibility to run the CGJA. Some would call them the elite, the privileged, while some, including some of them, sometimes think they are nuts.

There are twelve of them that meet monthly via teleconference and face-to-face when practical (at the AC, the TTT session...) to decide policy and to insure that we meet our statutory obligations. Each is highly committed to the Mission of the Association and works hard on numerous committees. They really do care about what we do and what we should be doing.

The President has selected, and the Board approved, a NEC of Directors and members from the three regions to compile a slate for the election of six Directors this summer. They are:

Nominations/Elections Committee:

- Dan Mufson, Chair (Director - Central Region)
- Beate Boultinghouse (Central Region)
- Darrel Petersen (Director - Northern Region)
- Ray Frisbie (Northern Region)
- Meredith Avery (Director – Southern Region)
- Lew Avera (Southern Region)

Tellers Committee:

- Barbara Carolan (North)
- Wilda Davisson (Central)
- Joe Moreland (South)

The purpose of this article is for you to nominate a worthy, competent individual that you think would benefit us all. Maybe it is you.

Deadline for nominations is July1, 2011. Please submit to Dan Mufson, dan@apotherx.com.

Awards Committee By Betty J. Mattea, Chair

The newly authorized and formed Awards Committee will be announcing its activities shortly. Among its responsibilities are the Excellence in Reporting and Angelo Rolando Awards. Currently information on these two awards, announced at the Annual Conference, is not on our website, as we are looking to improve the information in order to extend our outreach for these important recognitions of outstanding service to our association and our communities.

Therefore, if you wish any information on either please contact Sarah Simpson on any EIR matter, and Betty J. Mattea on any Angelo Rolando issue. Thanks for your patience and assistance.

Legislative Affairs Committee

By Bill Trautman, Chair

Have Knowledge, Will Share

Can grand jury alternates sit in on grand jury interviews if they have been sworn? Can the grand jury dismiss one of its members? These are just some of the many queries the CGJA Legislative Affairs Committee gets from grand juries, court administrators, grand jury chapters or associations and the public from counties all over California.

While these questions come to us either directly or through other CGJA members, they eventually get to our Committee. The inquiries are then circulated to the Committee members for comment, and once the comments are in, a timely response is prepared and sent to the inquirer. The responses are based upon the facts provided in the inquiry and the experience and knowledge of the Committee members, all of whom have been involved with grand juries over many years. The CGJA does not and cannot give legal advice, and our responses should not be relied upon as such.

In no particular order, the following is a small sample of the Committee's responses to various inquiries in 2010:

More than one grand jury posed the question whether jurors can remove other jurors from the grand jury. The answer is NO. The California Supreme Court has recognized that the appointing Superior Court has supervisory powers over its county's grand jury. As part of this supervisory power, only the Court or judge thereof can dismiss a sworn grand juror, and only on reasonable grounds.

A question coming from a court administrator was whether or not sworn alternates can attend sessions of the grand jury and sit in on interviews by the grand jurors. The simple answer is that alternates cannot participate in any way in the grand jury proceedings. They are not members of the grand jury until impaneled. Section 939 quoted above specifically excludes persons other than the grand jurors to be present at grand jury sessions. Also, allowing an alternate to sit in on an interview would violate Penal Code Section 929 which prohibits disclosure by a grand juror of (the identity of) any person giving information to the grand jury.

An interesting question coming from a CGJA chapter included a situation where a grand jury conducted an investigation into possible malfeasance of a public servant. It exonerated the public servant, but published its report nonetheless. Was this proper? This is a matter of discretion with the grand jury hopefully seeking advice from its legal advisors. Unless there is some overriding public interest or controversy in the subject matter to justify possible damage to the subject of the investigation from disclosure of an investigation exonerating the subject, we believe the better practice is not to issue the report.

A common question relates to whether the interviewee before the grand jury may have his/her lawyer present. Our unequivocal answer is that an interviewee is NOT entitled to bring a lawyer into the grand jury interview. Although we do not believe the admonishment to keep the interview confidential would preclude an interviewee from consulting with a lawyer outside the interview venue, then the admonition would also apply to the lawyer.

Finally, we get interesting questions of whether the grand jury can investigate itself. Penal Code Section 916 requires that each grand jury determine its rules of procedure. The grand jury can consider the rules of procedure adopted by a previous grand jury or as suggested in a local grand jury manual. That is the practice in most counties. Section 916 does not envision the adoption of these rules as a subject of a report. As with all grand jury deliberations, this process would be confidential, and no report could be publicly issued. On the other hand, if a sitting grand jury becomes aware of misconduct by a previous grand jury, such investigation should be referred to the District Attorney for further action.

CGJA Chapters Reports and Chapters in the News

So what is the best thing to do when an issue comes up which might impact your grand jury duties? The first thing is to see whether your own rules of procedure cover the situation. Next, look to your legal advisors under Penal Code Section 934(a) for advice. You can also ask one of our CGJA trainers as they can answer many of your questions. They will know when to refer you to our Legislative Affairs Committee. Finally, our Committee welcomes your questions because our purpose is twofold: to preserve and protect the Grand Jury system, and make your experience on a grand jury a worthwhile and satisfying one.

Thank You

In the last issue that featured the 2010 Annual Conference, we failed to acknowledge the photographers that provided the photos. They are Larry Walker, Kern County Chapter President, and Jerral Miles of San Diego, who was pressed into service by Meredith Avery, Conference Chair.

Thanks to both gentlemen for their excellent work.

Napa Chapter

By Dan Mufson, President

Since we got a call several weeks ago from the Marin Chapter asking if we could host the 2011 CGJA Annual Conference, and we said, "Yes", it has been hard to think of anything else. The chapter re-voted to accept this responsibility and off we went to re-establish hotel contacts. When you receive this Journal the contract with the Embassy Suites will have been signed; committees selected and the programming effort begun. Diane Dame` Shepp will chair this effort (she has a great deal of experience in organizing such events) when she's not performing her duties as Chair of the Napa County Commission for Arts & Culture!

In fact, she recently arranged for us to be interviewed on the Napa public access television station program, Faces of the Valley, to discuss the activities of the GJ, the chapter and the CGJA. Judge Diane Price, Bill Trautman, Diane and I were interviewed during the 30-minute show. We expect it will be a great recruiting tool to be shown in the petit jury room along with the current CGJA DVD. Our Court liked the DVD and has established a link to the You Tube version on their website.

In February we expect to meet with the Court to discuss our recruitment and orientation activities for this year's grand jury.

Ask the Trainer

This is another in a series of articles aimed at current jurors, especially those who have taken advantage of our new Introductory Membership (IM). We will attempt to remind you of key issues on a timely basis. Please remember the following: Any trainer is happy to try to answer specific questions in their area of expertise and may be contacted by using the information in Tab 10 of the training manual; you may not take any response as legal advice; and frequently you should contact your local legal advisors to answer questions. Please submit questions to me or the Journal Editor for future responses

CGJA Training Chair*

Report Writing By Bette Flick and Jerry Lewi

By now your jury should be writing some reports. This article will remind you of some of the information from our training seminar. As a first step, this might be a good time to reread the section on Report Writing in the Training Manual you received last summer and/or the material you received at one of our Report Writing Workshops in November.

Here are some tips from these materials:

Organize your material from the investigative file.

You may want to start with your Findings and Recommendations, which are the only items absolutely required by the law. A simple definition of these critical elements is:

- Findings - Bridge the gap between facts and recommendations and are conclusions based on fact. They must be responded to by the entity to which they are addressed.
- Recommendations - Each based on at least one finding. They must be logical, specific, achievable and feasible. They, too, must be responded to. Remember to address an agency or office, not an individual.

Then you can develop the backup material starting with such topics as the reason for the report, method of approach, the background, and factual information that will support the findings.

The report is the responsibility of the investigative committee, but is typically written by one or two authors at the most, unless unusually complicated (which is not usually a good idea). Involve your entire committee for advice as they should be the first step in the approval cycle.

Juries vary on the order of the review by the Editorial Committee and the full jury. But whatever your procedure is, involve the Editorial Committee as early as possible. They can serve the role of the first real audience just as if they were the entity to which the report is addressed. It must be clear to them and of course, they will be helpful in guiding you through style guidelines, and grammatical and spelling errors. Use spell check, but don't rely solely on it.

Take advantage of the provision in the law for a Final Verification Review of your Findings (only) with the involved entity (ies). This can save you embarrassment should you have your facts wrong.

Be sure to allow time for all the steps necessary to release your report, such as in addition to the above, County Counsel and Judicial review, as well as printing and delivering. Remember the two-day period for release to the agency or official before full public release.

We suggest a press release with your report that should mirror the Summary and be strong enough to make the reader want to read your entire report.

And finally, release reports as early in your term as possible, and not wait to the end of your term. This will get more attention with the media and your community, and if released early enough, you will get to see and review the responses.

Good luck and don't be afraid to ask us questions on any of this material.

FRESNO COUNTY GRAND JURORS' ASSOCIATION

By Vonda J. Epperson

During Grand Jury Awareness month, our Association is very busy with a meeting planned for Tuesday, February 15. Our guest speaker will be our Superior Court Presiding Judge Gary Hoff. We are encouraging all of our members and guests to attend and hear Judge Hoff.

In addition, we are actively involved with the recruitment of citizens for next year's Grand Jury. We have cut two PSA's to be heard on numerous radio stations. We are in contact with our local newspaper who has promised to write two editorials for us. A news release has appeared in two county city newspapers. Several speaking engagements have been planned to educate the community about service on the Grand Jury. We are also negotiating with a past Presiding Judge to appear on several TV stations advertising membership on the Fresno County Grand Jury. Our goal is to broaden the diversity of our jury pool.

Additional Committees Identified

In addition to the five standing committees listed in the Journal on a regular basis, we are providing contact information for several other ad hoc committees that you may have some interest in contacting. Some have articles in this issue, others will report from time to time.
